Who is this course for?

This course is for any student enrolled at Port Augusta Secondary School who is interested in career pathways related to food & hospitality or who have a general interest in the topics listed for their own knowledge and experience.

What will I learn?

- Students will learn how to risk assess a site to identify hazards, presenting their work as photographic evidence with annotations of the hazards and risks associated with the site.
- The use of safe food handling procedures. This will be documented as an observation report.
- How to keep a journal of their customer service experiences on 3 consecutive occasions and write a reflection upon their learning.
- How to design an item to be sold at the canteen: How to research ingredients, write a procedure for its preparation, make the food, advertise the food and sell the food at the canteen.
- Students will visit a number of restaurants and cafés and take note of the atmosphere, menus, décor of the site. They will have a meal and afternoon snack on 4 separate occasions and write a reflection about their experience at each site.

How will I be assessed?

YES Community Studies B has a focus on linking theory with ‘hands-on’ practical learning and application.

Assessment Type 1: Folio: 70% (Internal assessment)

Assessment Type 2: Community Application Activity 30% (External assessment)

Evidence of Learning:
